

A Small Investment This August Yields Big Results

Congress is on recess and back home in their districts. Help keep the carrier conversation going with your Member of Congress by executing any of these three engagement opportunities. Volunteer to participate and ACIBC will facilitate the engagement opportunity.

1. Show Your Member of Congress Your Facility

Like 25 ACIBC member companies have already done this year, host your Member of Congress at your facility to emphasize how the local economy and businesses in your community are significantly impacted by aircraft carrier funding.

2. Meet with a Congressional District/State Director

State/district staff leadership play a critical role in the legislative decision-making process. Engaging directly with your local district/state congressional staff by offering them a briefing at the local congressional district office.

3. Be a Part of the Carrier Conversation

In addition to following ACIBC social media channels—@ACIBC, @AircraftCarrier and aircraftcarrierfacebook.com – be sure to follow your Members of Congress on social media and engage in the carrier conversation.

Want to get involved?

Email Steve Bassermann at Steve@ACIBC.org to let us know how you'd like to help keep the carrier conversation going this summer.

Be sure to join ACIBC's LinkedIn group here: <http://bit.ly/1eVmDAY>

Congressman Charlie Dent (PA-15) gets a firsthand look at the products being manufactured in his district during his facility tour at PRL, Inc. in Cornwall, PA.

Follow us:

